Why Do The Russians Vote For Putin?

In 2006, Bernhard L. Mohr moved to Moscow – a lone Norwegian in a Russian workplace, in a time when many still considered a democratic development in Russia to be both possible and likely. Ten years later he returns to meet his old colleagues to get the answer to that major question: Why do the Russians vote for Putin? Why do they keep up the support of what with Western eyes may seem as an increasingly repressive regime?
