Alice Lima de Faria

The Bird Party

Flapps is a nocturnal animal who gets bored when there's no one to play with.

Everyone else sleeps at night – just not Flapps!

Sometimes Mark plays with her, but tonight Mark has to go to bed earlier than usual. Mark was invited to a birthday party at the birds' place. Flapps wasn't. So, she steals the invitation when Mark is sleeping and goes herself. But the birds aren't particularly interested in having a visit from Flapps. They want Mark, and there's a reason for that...

The author of the successful It wasn't me, said Robinhound follows up with a delightful story about feeling like an outsider, about finding your own friends and about being proud of who you are.

Age group: 4-8
