

Zeshan Shakar

Our Street

A profoundly literary and authentic voice, describing second generation immigrants' position as both insider and outsider in Norwegian society

"It's not gonna happen. I don't like writing. At least not writing a journal, man. That's for cunts, man. I prefer talking, you know. But ok, yeah man, I'm Jamaal. Black, Muslim, from Stovner, T.U.V. – Tante Ulrikkes street, you know, always representing."

"It is tradition to name your firstborn Mohammed, and the Prophet is the Role model for all Muslims, but like, when it is so important to them that I go out there and get a nice job and all that, I really don't get it, why they gave me that name."

It is Norway in the 2000s. Two boys grow up on the street Tante Ulrikkes vei in Stovner, the north-east part of Oslo. Their parents had hope. They themselves are in the middle of the transition between suburb and wider society, between car wash and student canteen, exam grades and keef.

More than 150.000 copies sold

More than one year on the bestseller list

Winner of the Tarjei Vesaas' Debutant Prize 2018

Stage play in spring 2019

Film adaptation 2022

[A] powerful, important and artistically successful novel about growing up as a second generation immigrant in Oslo-Suburbia.

- VG

Our Street isn't important because it represents something or someone, but because it's a really great novel.

- Morgenbladet

(...) hardly anything to put your finger on, so you start wondering which name the author has used for his previous novels.

- Adresseavisen

The novel offers political awareness on a difficult subject. It offers drugs, unemployment, child neglect, but also care, warmth, humor and a pride over your roots.

- Tara

Gyldendal 2017

432 pages

Original title: Tante Ulrikkes vei

ISBN: 9788205509269

 NORLA's Selected Titles

FOREIGN RIGHTS

Gyldendal Agency

P.O. Box 6860 St. Olavs plass

NO-0130 Oslo

Tel: +47 957 81 640

foreignrights@gyldendal.no

<http://eng.gyldendal.no>

RIGHTS SOLD TO

Italy, Stilo Editrice

AWARDS

Winner of the Tarjei Vesaas' Debutant Prize

2018

Gyldendal Agency

eng.gyldendal.no

Zeshan Shakar

Zeshan Shakar (b. 1982 in Oslo) grew up in Stovner. He is a qualified political scientist and has also studied economics at the Norwegian Business School (BI). Shakar has worked in various ministries and directorates, and now works at Oslo City Hall. He makes his debut in autumn 2017 with the novel Tante Ulrikkes Street. The novel was chosen as one of the BEST BOOKS OF 2017 by dailies VG, Dagbladet, Aftenposten, Dagens Næringsliv, Adresseavisen and Klassekampen.

