What did she say?

The Meadow Buttercup exists; the experts and the after thought exists; the angels, the embryos and the ecstasy exists; the echo exists; the drilling holes, the twirlers, the mud swirls and the after light exists; the moth and the crayfish exists, the carabids, the river, the loneliness exists, and the auk and the pseudoscorpion exist, and ethereal rooms, and the hereafter, the hereafter...

What did she say? is inspired by the book Alfabet by Inger Christensen. The book is an illustrated poem, with its eyes both at the past and the future. An echo, an alarm.
