Sigrid Marie Blom and Inga Semmingsen

Unique knitwear with colour and structure

Knitting is more popular today than ever before, and we see a clear trend towards colour, structure and designs which offer that little bit extra. Here you'll find patterns for modern, user-friendly sweaters, cardigans, snoods, woolly hats and balaclavas.

The book has something for everyone, and the items come in sizes ranging from XS to 3XL, ensuring that everyone can find something that will suit them and their loved ones. Become part of a unique knitting world that will give you huge doses of inspiration and hours of knitting joy.

Sigrid Marie Blom and Inga Semmingsen

Sigrid Marie Blom (born 1984) learned to knit as a child and has knitted on and off throughout her life. In spring 2019, after doing a lot of freestyle knitting, she took things to the next level and started to design her own patterns. Her knitting designs often combine structural patterns or cables that are cleverly constructed with delightful details.

Inga Semmingsen (born 1984) is a trained journalist who worked in cultural journalism before making a move to the publishing industry. In autumn 2019, Semmingsen, a life-long knitter, started to design her own knitting patterns under the @vippetavpinnene name on Instagram. Her patterns were well-received and are used by knitters all over the world.
