Anneli Klepp and Åshild Irgens (ill.)

Benny Football Buddy

Benny takes new chances.

Benny wants to start a football practice.

He wants to play on the team.

‘Sure thing,’ says the coach.

‘Chill out, you dork,’ says Adam.

So what should Benny do?

Benny feels safest with his teddy bear. But when he has to put teddy away for a little while, he suddenly discovers how brave he is all by himself!

This is the third book in the Benny series.

Anneli Klepp and Åshild Irgens (ill.)

Anneli Klepp is a brilliantly inventive author who writes in a way that gets to the heart of young people’s lives and problems, always with warmth and humour as her foremost devices. It is no coincidence that Roald Dahl is one of her literary inspirations.

Åshild Irgens (b. 1976) is a Norwegian illustrator. She has illustrated several children’s books for the publishers Aschehoug, Damm, Samlaget and Gyldendal, among them the novel Tonje Glimmerdal by Maria Parr, a recipient of the Brage Prize.
