The Story of either Jørn or Torgeir Bråten

Have you considered that, at this very moment, you who are reading this could have been in a completely different place? You could have been an orthodontist, for instance, or living on benefits after a jet ski accident, or been the chief administrative officer in Elverum. If only you had crossed the road that one time, or joined Monica for that kayak class.

No one has known where they have lead, all the roads we didn't take. Until now.

This is the story of the fourteen most interesting lifetimes of either Jørn or Torgeir Bråten, presented in an interactive novel where you as a reader decide the direction of the plot. This is a book about life and death, but also about high fives, Stalin, helium and a white wagtail by the name of Skibladner Christian Radich.
